
WINTER HAS NOW BEEN with us officially for almost a month, although the rain and briskness of temperature did not wait for the official opening of the season on Dec. 21.

The rainfall so far has exceeded the total of all last season by four inches with several wet months still in the offing.

So it is a pretty safe bet to expect that this will be one of the top wet years and with the cold snaps that have been experienced so far, it will probably be rated as one of the coldest also.

On the other hand, people have a habit of forgetting what sort of weather was recorded during the past year, unless it was definitely of the unusual variety.

It is generally only the current climatic condition which is the topic of conversations.

Still there are a number of examples that we have noted this winter as far as wearing apparel is concerned that we believe could be used as our own personal barometer, so to speak, in the comparison of this year's weather to any other.

WE HASTILY ADD THAT this wearing apparel "barometer" is strictly our own thing. We have no idea whether it will stand any kind of test, real or imaginary.

Item: We have had a fur-lined car coat for quite a few years which we only used in the snow country or under similar arctic conditions. But not this year.

Although we have kept no accurate count, a good estimate is that we have worn that snug coat more times during the last two months than in all the years we have owned it.

Conclusion: The weather just has to be colder this year than previously or our old bones are getting more sensitive.

And as a further "barometer" reading, we know of a number of our friends who received car coats of various styles, lengths and linings at Christmastime. We might add that they are getting great use out of 'em.

We don't recall any particular Christmas in the past in which so many car coats were under the tree.

-0-

OR TAKE THE ORDINARY top-coat as a case in point.

There is no question, as far as we are personally concerned, but that we have worn our top-coat more times already this year than ever before.

We know. We have trouble remembering to pick it up whenever we leave any place.

We are just not used to wearing it so often.

We have also noted that more umbrellas seem to be used this year than in other years.

We have been particularly impressed by those see-through umbrella jobs that have become so popular which allow the user greater flexibility in maneuvering and protects the other guy at the same time.

Anyway we thought we would pass onto you these pertinent points garnered from our own research and observation that have led us to the conclusion that this is a colder and wetter winter than we have experienced for some time.

Now where's that coat?

Retail sales in Campbell for third quarter in 1972 show huge gain

Campbell registered a $7.4 million gain in taxable sales in the third quarter of 1972 over the same period in 1971, a phenomenal increase of 42%, according to the report of the State Board of Equalization. Statewide the increase was only 17.5%.

The retail taxable sales for Campbell reached $24.8 million compared to $17.3 million in the third quarter of 1971.

Statewide the third-quarter taxable sales spiraled up to $13.9 billion, an unprecedented gain of more than $2 billion over the comparable quarter in 1971.

According to the board's report, nearly half of the 17.5% gain statewide was attributed to the new sales tax on gasoline, which began July 1, 1972.

Although the increase in taxable sales of service stations in Campbell leaped from $249,000 to $2.2 million, this gain only accounted for approximately $2 million of the $7 million total increase locally in taxable sales.

INCREASES

Eating places accounted for an increase of $876,000; home furnishings went up $1.4 million; apparel stores up $437,000; drug stores, $441,000 and food stores, $146,000.

Every category showed an increase during the third quarter in 1972 as compared to the same period in 1971 with the exception of "building materials" which dropped $133,000 for the quarter. "Building materials" totalled $2.7 million as compared to $2.8 million the year before; still, however, the second most productive area for taxable sales in town.

Topping the list in Campbell was "home furnishings" with $4.5 million and "eating places" with $2.6 was in third place, followed by "service stations", $2.2 million and "food" with $1.6 million.

TOPS LOS GATOS

Campbell's sales topped Los Gatos by $5.7 million in the third quarter and Cupertino by $5.5 million. Cupertino for the first time surpassed Los Gatos in taxable sales for any quarter. Cupertino showed a gain of $3.3 million for the period while Los Gatos only could muster a $2.9 million gain.

Milpitas showed almost a $4 million increase in sales with a total of $12,501,000, sailing past both Los Altos (11,452,000) and Gilroy (11,297,000), which had higher taxable sales the previous year.

As usual, "auto dealers and auto supplies" led the way in Los Gatos for that city's biggest sales outlet. In Los Gatos, "auto row" accounted for $8.5 million of the total sales of $19 million, approximately 45%. With no automobile agency in Campbell, "auto supplies" accounted for only $330,000 in sales of the total of $24.8 million.

Taxable sales for all the cities in the county (last year's figures in parenthesis):

San Jose $273,549,000 ($232,196,000); Santa Clara, $80,561,000 ($67,548,000); Palo Alto $68,733,000 ($57,950,000); Sunnyvale $58,095,000 ($48,407,000); Mt. View $53,507,000 ($45,933,000); CAMPBELL $24,819,000 ($17,359,000); Cupertino $19,386,000 ($16,090,000); Los Gatos, $19,092,000 ($16,138,000); Milpitas $12,501,000 ($8,523,000); Los Altos $11,452,000 ($9,845,000); Gilroy $11,297,000 ($9,688,000); Saratoga $5,206,000 ($3,507,000); Morgan Hill $4,858,000 ($3,789,000); Los Altos Hills $415,000 ($363,000); Monte Sereno $14,000 ($12,000).

Two announce for trustee

Two long-time workers in school activities of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, Gordon Abbott, 42, of 1010 S. Baywood Dr., San Jose, and George P. Baker, 48, of 635 Chapman Dr., Campbell, this week became the first candidates to publicly announce that they would be candidates for trustee in the April 17 election. There will be three seats open on the CUSD board.

Filing period for candidates in all the school districts opened Jan. 10 and will close Feb. 16.

The terms of three trustees, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, Ralph Steinberg and Mrs. Judy Ruscigno are expiring.

ABBOTT

Abbott, who is an accountant and public relations consultant, holds B.A. and B.S. degrees from the University of Santa Clara and has also attended the University of Washington and Stanford. He attended Issaquah High School in Washington.

Married to the former Mayme Phelps, a former teacher, the Abbotts have three children, Wendy (11), Gordon (9) and Philip (7), all attending Monroe School. Abbott has served two terms as president of the Monroe Home and School Club and has been on the club's board for six years.

He was vice-chairman of the school district's citizen advisory finance committee and vice-president of Cuputo Acres Homeowners Association.

He has also served as an officer in the California State Employees Association and is a member of the El Camino Lions Club, the SCU Alumni Association and the Bronco Beach Foundation. He is a veteran of the Korean War.

Citizens goals group meets this Thursday

Although 10 of the 22 members of the steering committee failed to submit names for the expanded Citizens Advisory Goals Committee by last Friday's deadline, there have been 37 citizens suggested for membership who have been invited to the meeting this Thursday, according to the city manager's office.

At the organizational meeting, each member of the steering committee had agreed to "recruit" two citizens for the advisory body and submit the names by Friday to the secretary, Mrs. Carol Moore, so they would be included in the agenda packet for this Thursday's meeting of the entire group.

The steering committee and the others who have been named for the advisory body will meet in the council chambers at 7:30 p.m.

Steve Campbell, chairman, will preside at the meeting and Mayor Bill Podgorsek will also be present to give the background for the formation of the city's first goals committee.

Vice-chairman Bob Peck and City Manager Bob Stephens will also explain various aspects of the committee's work.

AREAS OF CONCERN

The Citizens Advisory Goals Committee will explore three basic areas of concern; (1) physical and economic development of the city; (2) intergovernmental relations; (3) city's responsibility for people-orientated programs, and the members will be assigned to the area of their choice.

Steering committee members designated their choices at the first session.

Assigned to area "1" were Ed Fabbri, Dick Hardy, Bob Bullard, Al Blaine, Holly Vollenweider, Peggy Pack and Father Leonard W. Bose.

Area "2": Don Hebard, Jim D'Avis, Homer Hyde, Steve Goodman and Dan Knowles.

Area "3": Edith Morley, Jeanette Watson, Becky Campos, Mike Kennedy, Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould, Masel Sheehan and Irma Reese.

A chairman and vice-chairman will be named for each one of the three area committees when each one of the

Officials dedicate Capri park this Friday

Dedication ceremonies will be held this Friday, January 19, at 11:30 a.m. for the Capri School neighborhood park, as representative of the seven parks that are being developed with city bond funds and school district participation.

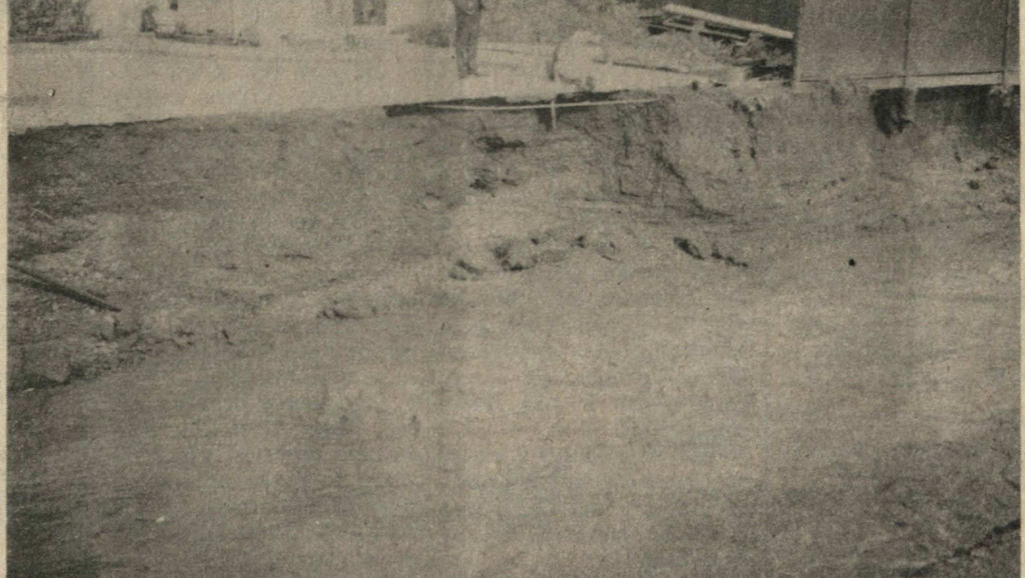
The Capri park is one of the four that have received federal funding through HUD and a representative of that federal agency will participate in the dedicatory program.

Through bond funds, the city has allocated $10,000 for each of seven school parks in the city and HUD has put up an additional $5000 for Capri, Forest Hill and Hazelwood. The San Tomas park has received a $10,000 HUD grant. The other parks, Dover, Rolling Hills and Rosemary were not approved for federal funding.

Following the dedication ceremonies, members of the school board will be guests of the City Council at lunch in the PruneYard.

Taking part in the dedication program will be Mark Jennings, school principal; Fred (Pete) Peterson, assistant district superintendent; Mayor Bill Podgorsek; and Dr. Bob King, president of the board of trustees, and Mrs. Edith Morley, chairman of the city's park and recreation commission. The Rev. Wayne Myers will give the invocation.

Representing HUD at the ceremony will be Barney Deasy, program manager of HUD for this area.



POOL ON EDGE OF CREEK--Harry Aine, 4008 Twyla Lane, watches as workman checks on damage to his swimming pool caused by eroding waters. Rain-swollen San Tomas Creek swept away his fence early Tuesday morning. County Flood Control workmen had to move heavy equipment from the work area along the creek early Tuesday when the creekbank eroded and threatened to dump the equipment into the creek along with area fences. CofC installs this Friday

New officers and directors of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will be formally installed at the annual dinner-dance at Zorba's this Friday, January 19, when the citizen-of-the-year for 1972 will also be announced.

The social hour begins at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Al La Plante, president during the past year, will open the annual affair and will introduce Fred La Cosse, news director of Channel 11, who will be master-of-ceremonies for the evening.

The Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell, a former director of the CofC and winner of the citizen-of-the-year award for 1970, will install the new officers and directors.

Ed Fabbri, of Bank of America, is the incoming president.

Other officers include Al Blaine, of Aero Pharmacy, first vice-president; John Copper, of IBM card plant, second vice-president, and Phil Olavarri, of Killroy Pest Control, treasurer.

New directors who will take office are: Jim Bower, Betty Piper Borden, Jim D'Avis, Sally Howe, Homer Hyde, Dan Knowles, Norm Johnson and Jim Hardy.

Hold-over directors, in addition to the four officers, Fabbri, Blaine, Copper and Olavarri, include, Father Leonard W. Bose, Bob Peck, Jack Reilly and Gordon Craig.

Directors retiring from the board this year are Jim Baker, Bob Cowan, Bob Tellesen, Lowell Grattan and Ira Kirkorian.

The citizen-of-the-year award, which always highlights the annual installation event, is always one of the community's best-kept secrets, with only members of the selection committee, as a rule, privy to the information until the dinner takes place.

Norm Paul, who served as president of the Chamber of Commerce during 1971 and who was elected city councilman in April of last year, was named citizen-of-the-year for 1971 and he will make the announcement of this year's winner and present the plaque to the individual who has been selected for the honor.

Prior to the announcement of the citizen-of-the-year award winner, the ambassador-of-the-year award also will be made. This goes to the CofC member who has brought the most new members into the organization during the past year.

This is also kept secret until the dinner, although those who are in the running for it have been pretty well established, based on their records made prior to October.

Voter apathy

Filing period for trustee candidates in the various school districts in the area began last Wednesday (January 10) and will end on Friday, February 16.

Historically, school trustee elections draw only a small percentage of the registered voters.

As a case in point, in the special trustee election that was held last week in the Los Gatos Union Elementary School District only 10.7% of the voters in that district bothered to cast ballots at the polls.

True, the election in Los Gatos was a special one and there is generally a larger turnout at the regularly scheduled elections. But seldom does the turnout at the polls for school elections go over the 20% mark.

Ironically, school trustees can have a far greater impact on the individual than most state or federal elective officials.

Yet there are literally thousands of voters who are avid campaigners on the state and national level and are intensely interested in all phases of electioneering in those instances, but seem to take no interest at all in a local election.

It is highly important, of course, to show concern and to vote in the state and national elections and this involvement in such campaigns is absolutely necessary.

But it is also highly important to exercise one's voting privilege on the local level as well.

It is the elective official on the local level who can affect our routine daily life to a far greater extent than can a state or national figure.

It is true, of course, that both the state and federal governments are reaching us more and more, but the fact remains that it is still the local officials who concern us more directly.

And when only 20% of the registered voters go to the polls in a school election and elect officials who can take actions that will touch every home in the district, it becomes a little frightening.

And it seems that editorials and personal appeals, which are presented to the electorate, are of no avail.

The turnout will be the usual 20%.

This means, for example, that of the approximately 26,000 voters who are registered in the Campbell (elementary) School District, about 5000 will cast ballots in April for three candidates.

And three trustees constitute a majority of a five-member board.

Or to put it another way, about 20,000 of the voters will, by their own inaction on election day, allow a small minority to dictate the policies, set the tax rate and take other actions that will vitally affect every household in the district.

We sincerely believe it is paramount that the trustees of any school district should be representative of and responsive to the entire district and not to any one segment of it.

It is difficult to understand how the vast majority of the citizens seem to be content to sit back during these school elections and fail to recognize how important it is to them to have responsible people in the elective offices.

Although there will be elections in almost all the school districts throughout the state on April 17 and this apathy is not confined to one area, we sincerely and selfishly hope that in the Campbell Union (elementary) District the voters will realize how important it is in this election that there be a sizable turnout at the polls so that some sort of a "mandate" can be given.

It is our hope that during this filing period, which ends on February 16, efforts be made to convince sincere, dedicated and responsible people to become candidates.

Then prior to the April 17 balloting, the electorate of the district should carefully examine the candidates and their "platforms."

And on April 17 go to the polls by large enough numbers so that it will be a definite "mandate."

Perhaps our plea against the apathy that exists will not generate any more interest in the campaign or drum up more votes on election day.

We hope it will. But the fact remains that the upcoming school trustee election in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District is a crucial one.

We believe that the people in the district are anxious for the air to be cleared once and for all and the trustees need be responsive to what the people want in their district.

stories last week, it was a little confusing as to whether it was the "Citizens Advisory Goals Committee" or the "Citizens Goals Advisory Committee".

It appeared both ways in the same story.

We don't think it makes any difference in the situation but it really is "Citizens Advisory Goals Committee".

IN THE MAIL THIS WEEK we received a new publication released by the Air Resources Board called "Automobiles and Air Pollution".

The note with it reported that it was available free of charge and that it would be appreciated if we would "print or broadcast" a notice asking interested drivers to write for a copy to: Public Information Office, California Air Resources Board, 1025 P Street, Sacramento, CA 95822.

So we broadcast:

The booklet deals with the role of the automobile in pollution and the devices that have been developed to eliminate the emissions from the carburetor, crankcase, tailpipe, etc.

It also discusses the concentrated efforts that are being taken to improve the internal combustion engine and that by 1975-76 the automobile industry must produce a virtually pollution-free car.

The booklet is jam-filled with facts about air pollution and the last three pages contain some suggestions for driving and maintenance techniques that will reduce air pollution.

Among the suggestions: "keep car in good running order; have smog systems serviced regularly; don't drive a "smoker"; never be a "gas-pumper"; skip the warmup; use the easy takeoff; don't "blast off"; "keep level speed"; "swear off sudden slowdowns"; "avoid idling"...and others.

There is one suggestion that we thought was somewhat applicable to the situation at E. Campbell Ave. and Midway.

About six weeks ago, four-way stop signs were installed at that intersection to see if that would deter some of the through traffic that has made that portion of E. Campbell Ave. a bad scene for the residents who live on it.

But the stop signs didn't seem to help.

-0-

IN FACT, IT WAS REported that it had amplified the problem because it increased the drivers' impatience and added screeching brakes and gunning motors to the speeding traffic.

So the City Council agreed with the residents and ordered the four-way stop signs removed, which is sort of sad in a way.

You see in this smog booklet we have been telling you about, one of the suggestions offered to the "responsible citizen and automobile driver" to help in the fight for clean air touched on stop signs.

Like the ones at Midway and E. Campbell, for example.

-0-

HERE IS THE SUGGESTION: "Avoid stop signs and traffic lights whenever you can. Seek routes that help you keep your car moving steadily. When you travel routes with many traffic lights, try to pace your driving to "hit on the green." A steady flow of traffic cuts pollution."

Apparently, the commuter drivers on E. Campbell have been more concerned about getting home or to work than they are about air pollution.

At least the experiment at Midway and E. Campbell would indicate that.

They didn't avoid the stop signs...they did not use an easy take-off after stopping and they really did "blast off", according to observers.

We thought this was sort of an interesting sidelight on a vexing situation.

Another dimension to the picture one might say.

Thieves hit car wash

Over $600 in small hand tools were stolen from the Delta Queen Car Wash, 981 E. Hamilton Ave. Thursday.

According to manager Michael A. Sovia, the business was broken into sometime during the night and several dozen small hand tools were found missing.

The car wash, a simulated river boat, opened for business here a few months ago.

Council to act on dance studio permit on Monday

Interested residents in the immediate neighborhood are expected to be present next Monday night, January 22, at the City Council meeting when the appeal is heard from a Planning Commission denial of a use permit for a dance studio at 89 Cherry Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Knowles had requested that they be allowed to conduct a private dancing school in an addition to their residence on Cherry Lane, which is now under construction.

They claimed that it would not create any traffic or parking problem and the classes would be limited to 10 students each.

A number of residents were on hand at the Planning Commission hearing to protest the studio, claiming it was a commercial encroachment into a residential area.

The Planning Commission unanimously denied the use permit and the Knowles' appealed the decision to the City Council.

The City Council next Monday is also expected to award contracts for the construction of the median strip on Bascom and Hamilton and for the conversion of the city communication system into a different wave length. Bids will be opened for both projects on Thursday.

City Manager Bob Stephens and Police Chief Don Burr are also expected to make a report to the Council on the study that has been completed with respect to assumption of police dispatching for the Town of Los Gatos.

The Council is also expected to act on the traffic circulation plan for the city's general plan that has been approved by the Planning Commission.

Tie vote kills ban on lettuce

Another effort by representatives of a teachers' union to get the trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District to stop purchasing iceberg lettuce as a sympathy gesture for the United Farm Workers Union, failed last Thursday. A motion to boycott iceberg lettuce lost on a 2-2 deadlock vote.

In a letter to the board, the teachers' union had requested the trustees to make no further purchase of iceberg lettuce. In addition, representatives of the farm workers were present to plead their case orally. One of the speakers spoke only Spanish.

After the presentation, Trustee Ralph Steinberg made the motion to stop buying iceberg lettuce. He was supported by Dr. Richard MacQuiddy.

Dr. Bob King, board president, voted against the motion as did Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong.

Trustee Judy Ruscigno abstained in the voting, forming the 2-2 deadlock.

The matter had previously been brought up at the November 9 meeting but no action was taken at that time because the motions made on the issue received no seconds.

Industrial buildings get okay

Plans for three industrial buildings to be constructed on the Ben Smith property on Division Street received approval of the Planning Commission on Monday night.

The modified sign ordinance also received the blessing of the Commission and was forwarded to the City Council for adoption.

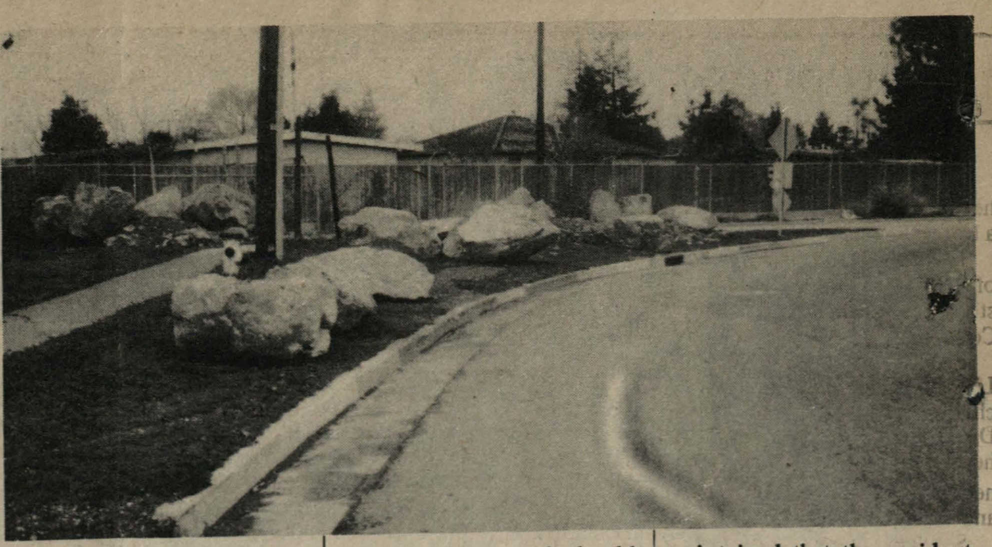
Continued until the February 5 meeting was the long-pending application of Joyce Kealoha for a dog kennel operation at 1849 Pollard Road in order to allow the staff to research reasonable noise level standards. The application, which had received prior approval of the Planning Commission was referred back by the City Council for more specific recommendations for sound levels.

Also continued until the February 5 meeting was the application of Gold Seal Realty for the conversion of a residence at 492 Nottingham into an office. Continued to the same meeting was the application of James Foug & Associates on behalf of Ziegler Development Co. for a commercial development at Hamilton and Llewellyn.

Approval was given Ira Kirkorian for a five-foot variance on a rear yard setback for an auto services center at 3303 Winchester Blvd. and an extension of one year was granted Eric A. Bracher for a six-lot subdivision on South Bascom south of Shelley Ave.

Ken Rubin, on behalf of Angels (formerly Bonanza) was given approval for canopy over the display of outdoor merchandise at 1750 S. Bascom.

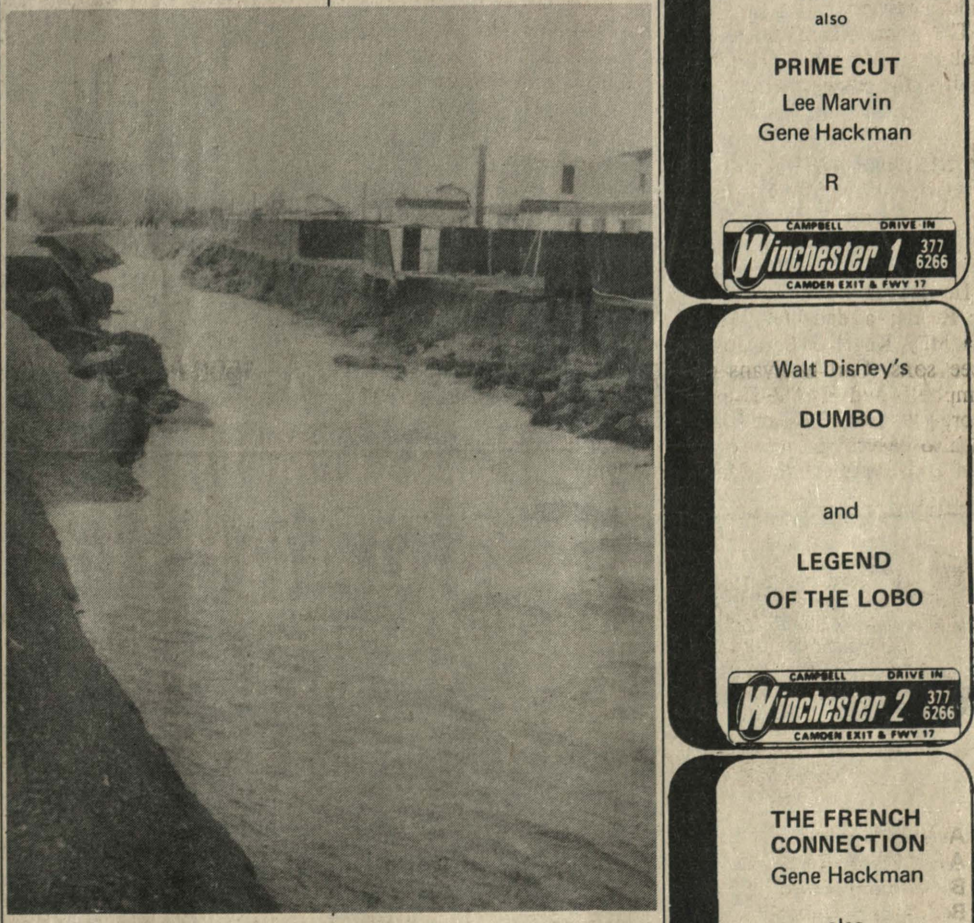
Continued until March 19 (at request of the application) was the application of L. W. Bitney for approval of a warehouse-office at 503 Salmar Avenue.



VISUAL IMPACT --- A new concept in warning drivers to be cautious rounding a curve has been installed by the public works department on Virginia Avenue, near Budd. A string of boulders (above) have been placed at the outer perimeter of the curve to act as a "visual impact" for the motorists. Prior to the boulder installation, the curve had been the scene of a number of accidents with some cars upending into the creek.

At the last City Council meeting it was reported that a number of residents had complained about the unique installation. However, Wren maintained that the accident rate had dropped at the curve and that the results were being watched closely. In the meantime the Council directed City Attorney Bob Dempster to check out the city's liability if an erring motorist should happen to smack one of the boulders.

SURVEYING DAMAGE --- Ross Tiffany points out some of the damage caused by torrential rains flowing through San Tomas Aquino Creek to Mark Wilson. The creek swept away property and fences during Tuesday's rain storm.



CREEK WIDENING---San Tomas Aquino Creek is substantially wider today following rain storms early Tuesday morning which left property damaged along the creek banks. Residents fear further damage with more rain forecast this week.

Police seek abductor

Campbell police are searching for a young man accused of abducting a San Jose woman and assaulting her after having her drive to a mountain area near here.

According to reports, the woman was accosted in the parking lot of a Campbell cocktail lounge early Sunday morning. The woman told police the man threatened her with a knife before the attack.

Being sought on charges of rape, kidnapping and assault is a suspect described as a white male, about 27 years old, with light hair, ear-length sideburns and a moustache and goatee.

by Sandy Mann

GREETINGS!

Hello and Happy New Year from the Clifford Irving of the Journalistic world, Sandy Mann! Hope everything has been going well, and may all your Algebra grades be good ones.

"What!?" You scream?

Yup. Only nine more days 'til doomsday. The semester grading period, where we all can see the fruits of our labors. Or the labors of the fruits, as the case may be.

So beware, my friends. January 25 is the end of the first semester; not to mention the end of dating privileges, using the car, allowances, etc. Watch out for attempted suicides. The life you save may be a Campbell student.

YFU IS NOT A FOUR LETTER WORD

As the blessed day of graduation creeps ever nearer, and me being one of the privileged minority that will be allowed to escape, naturally I have been thinking about what I should do after graduation.

Of course, I could go to work, but who needs a full-time goof-off?

And, naturally, like eight trillion other kids I've applied to a few colleges, but it occurred to me that between grammar school, high school, college and the imminent probability of Agnew, I could spend my whole life in institutions (no cracks from you, Westmont!).

So I began investigating an alternative to both. That is, traveling abroad in the Youth for Understanding foreign exchange program. It's cheaper than going to college, gives you "culture" by being able to see new places (can you imagine me with culture? Hah!), and it gets you out of the house for a summer, six months, or a year, which is probably what makes it so attractive to the parents.

I spoke with Milan Predan, Campbell's intriguing goodwill ambassador from Yugoslavia.

He has been staying with Dave Whittiker's family since last summer, and is staying a year. He is receiving full credit for his year here, and will be going to college when he returns from the States. There was a high degree of competition at his school for the one opening there to America, and he was chosen to go because of his high academic standing and all-around good character.

When you travel through YFU, you are matched to a family with a son or daughter that is near your own age and sex. In Milan's case, he was able to choose the country and the general location, but not the specific area. This is generally the case with all students. He estimated that the whole trip, not including his knick-knack spending while he is here, is costing his parents about 400 dollars!

There are many different places to choose from, both in North America and Europe. So, if you really don't feel like going straight to school, or to work next year, you might want to contact Mrs. Hansen. She is a nice lady working for Youth For Understanding who, four years ago, sent our family an exchange student from Brazil for three months.

You can get in contact with her by writing or phoning her,

Mrs. Nils Hansen

AND THAT'S THE WEEK!

WALKING THE PLANK JOUSTING AT WINDMILLS

I thought that apropos of the new year, it would be a good idea to draw up a few tactfully submitted New Year's Resolutions for everyone at Campbell High. Below are the guidelines that I will be watching for improvement in the coming year at Campbell.

FOR THE STUDENTS: Be aware of the privileges that you have, and respect your end of the bargain by keeping the school grounds and outlying areas neat and free of litter.

Don't be PIGS, be PEOPLE. Find someplace else besides the bathrooms to smoke, because by the end of the day, it looks like a used gas chamber in some concentration camp. And really--cigarette butts on the toilet seats!!!

Also, when you use the cafeteria, the food may not be very good, but the price they charge for it makes it far too expensive to throw around, so when you buy food, EAT IT, don't THROW IT.

Take care of what little equipment we've got. More often than not, we don't get half of all the books, materials, and equipment that we need, and inevitably, some stupid jerk wrecks something and makes it that much worse. Be AWARE.

FOR THE TEACHERS: Be flexible. Don't do something just because you've done it that way for the last 20 years. Change with the times, and don't be afraid to let your students have a good time as you teach them (ex. Mr. Petrianos).

You are running your class, students aren't running you. When you have something to say, SAY IT, and don't let the loudmouths and gabbers (like me) walk all over you. No teacher is less respected than a teacher who smiles all the time and can't be heard.

FOR THE ADMINISTRATION: Don't always say "NO!". So what if something a student wants to do is different than what five million other students want to do? So what if it's never been done before, or isn't in the small realm of Campbell High?

Don't just say "no," or "It is not possible." Try to think of anything that could be done to let that person do it. People he could write to, programs he could take. DON'T TRY TO RULE THE STUDENT'S DESTINY.

Don't be so afraid of a "Bad Image." Problems at our school do exist. And people get upset when they find out about all the nasty problems. But a simple "We're doing the best we can..." is too easy an excuse.

Let people know about our problems, enlist their help, and get THINGS DONE!!!!

FOR ME: I must remember that I am not just speaking for myself, but many. I should try to discuss issues concerning the whole school.

I must not let my feelings influence the facts to the extent that somebody else gets hurt. Be witty and fun, but be considerate.

Try at all times to outdo Westmont's column, "The Open Mouth" and show Maureen and Paul who REALLY owns this paper. Touche' Warriors!!!

Thespian auditions end tonight at Gaslighter Theater

A wide range of acting talent will be needed for a new repertory company being formed in Campbell.

Trevor Krell, director of Uncle "M's" Comedia, announced that auditions will be concluded tonight at the Gaslighter Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave., beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The first production of the new company will be a rewritten version of "The Barber of Seville." Originally some four hours in length, Krell has modified the production to just over two hours.

"One of the characters is 80 years old," says Krell of the comedy offering, while the youngest is the 15 year old heroine. "I feel though that a woman of 30 could portray the part," says Krell.

Plans call for some four months of rehearsals before the first performance at the local theater.

If all goes well, Krell hopes to take the new company on tour to colleges throughout the area after closing at the Campbell theater.

The new troupe is patterned after those of acting companies, dating back to before the fall of the Roman Empire, Krell says. Basically these companies performed low-cost comedy plays and had a fairly mobile cast. Historically, Krell said of the Roman days, the people weren't allowed to have plays. Penalties ranged from burning at the stake to being run out of town, according to the director.

"They had to be able to get out of town fast," he explained.

Further information about the company may be obtained by calling 967-4481.

ACTIVITY PERIOD

Many times this year I have talked about the Activity Period. This has been done because of the superior form of education it represents. Many critics of the program said it would never last and that the students couldn't handle the responsibility. Well, they were wrong! Sure, some students are trying to mess it up but I don't think they can.

Not only is every teacher at Camden getting involved but outside interests as well are getting into the act. With that kind of support, it seems unlikely that we can fail.

BACK TO NORMAL

Last issue, I mentioned that Camden was under a barage of new rules and regulations to curb cutting and other student habits. Well. I'm happy to announce that things are back to normal and the pressure is off. That's not to say that everybody is running wild in the halls.

The violators have been caught and those who weren't caught have curbed their evil ways so the rest of us can get back to just being left alone.

BATTLE OF THE SEXES

A few issues back in Cougars Tales, a reporter wrote a story about venereal disease. The amount of controversy the story caused is amazing. The girls screamed that it sounded like all the blame was being put on the girls. The boys screamed that it wasn't their fault either. The principal screamed that the original story couldn't be printed and had to be cut. This story is now considered, by many, to be one of the best stories that was ever written in Cougars Tales. Most people feel that it's about time something controversial was brought to light.

OUR TOWN

The Phil Augers are still talking about the 75 mile per hour winds that struck Florida the first week of their holiday visit there. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Chamberlin had an especially happy holiday season with visits from their sons, Donald and his wife, Judith, of Yorktown Heights, New York, and James of Washington, D.C.....

Speaking of holidays, R.V. Cloud Company of Campbell will have their annual New Year's (!?!) party this Saturday night at Villa Felice.....

Miss Mabel Laederich has just recently returned from a two-month tour of Europe, Africa and South America. Among the many places visited she especially enjoyed a trip to the Inca Ruins in South America and a safari to the game reserve in Nairobi.....

The many friends of Kiwanis Club President, Ralph Weymouth, will be happy to hear he is now home and on his way to recovery following a heart attack in November.....

Congratulations are in order for Al Rocco, winner of the Moose Lodge's annual pool tournament. Runner-up was Linc McKinsey.....

Former Assistant City Manager, Carl Kuhn, and his wife, Harriet, who now reside in Sacramento, became the proud parents of a second daughter, Jennifer Christine, born Dec. 21.....

December 16 was the date of the last official function of the Campbell Community Hospital Auxiliary. The group who ran the gift shop and attended the information desk are unable to carry on these services due to a decline in their membership. Auxiliary President Mary Jane Cain says a local high school girl, as yet unselected, who is planning a career in the medical field, will be the recipient of the funds remaining in the treasury.....

Until next week, a speedy recovery to all our readers sick with the flu.

Youngsters score "hit" in musical

by Sally Howe

Seldom do "reviewers" have the heart to criticize any activity relating to children--it's simply not done. But in offering platitudes to the many shows produced and directed by John P. Healy, Jr., of the San Jose Children's Musical Theater, it would be easy to overlook a really outstanding production, such as "Music Man," which was presented last weekend at the Montgomery Theater in San Jose.

Young Healy has done so many "impossible" things, that the staging of a production involving 135 youngsters at the Montgomery Theater in San Jose is not surprising. What was pleasurable were the talents of the many youngsters who were involved.

The orchestra was not only audible, it was good, and did not drown out the lines. On Saturday evening the audience was so interested that there rarely were any distractions in the auditorium.

If any criticism might be levied, it would be that the director and his assistants were not aware that some voices could be lost when moving around on the stage, probably because of the heavy curtains.

Phillip Olmstead WAS Harold Hill, without a doubt, but he was one of those whose songs became indistinct as he danced about the set.

Speaking of dancing, the choreography deserves special praise and in particular, Mike Rabeadeux and Dawn Wagner, as Tommy and Zaneeta, were a real "team" and their stage presence almost compelled the eye to follow their movements.

This is not to take anything away from Lorri Alexander, who made a lovely Marion and Charlotte Barnard, who managed to keep a hint of the blarney in her voice as she portrayed Marion's mother.

It's impossible to single out too many others, because they were ALL so good, but Don Benson, John Tralongo, Richard Hill, the school board quartet, Nancy Heiser, Anne Healy and Gina Marucci--and oh, the guy who could've stolen the show, Bill Howard, as the tangle-talking mayor of River City, made it a most memorable performance.

Many Campbell youngsters participated in the show, which will be repeated as a road show in February.

However, Mrs. Paul Fischer, community chairman, is still recruiting volunteers to fill in where marchers are having to stay home, either because they are ill or they have sick families. Local people, both men and women, who wish to volunteer should call Mrs. Fischer, 378-1077. The Mothers' March office, where Marylynn Smith is making assignments, is 292-3122.

"Birth defects are forever--unless we help," Mrs. Patti Wozadlo, San Josean who is county MM chairman, reminded today.

Linda Bernal becomes bride

MR. and MRS. KENNETH JOHN BINDER

Linda Bernal was gowned in a floor-length empire style gown when she became the bride of Kenneth John Binder at Piedmont Hills Baptist Church recently.

The San Jose Bible School student and Campbell High graduate was given in marriage by her uncle, Jim Newman of Woodland, when the double ring afternoon ceremony was performed by Pastor Dan Griffiths.

Honor attendant was Kim Carlson of Los Gatos, who wore a long turquoise cotton gown with ivory lace. The bride's bouquet was of pink marguerites and white rose buds, as was that of her maid of honor. Her mother, Mrs. Robert Smith, and Mrs. Ken Klatt, mother of the groom, also had corsages of marguerites and roses.

The bride completed her costume with a mantilla bridal veil to complement her gown of Spanish lace. Her mother was attired in a long pink knit and Mrs. Klatt wore a long green chiffon dress.

Jodi Binder of Capitola, wearing a long turquoise cotton gown, served as flower girl.

Bob Binder, brother of the groom, served as best man, while Greg Avina, Theresa Masterson and Diane Lord offered vocal selections.

Following the ceremony, guests were greeted at the home of the bride's mother, on Central Avenue.

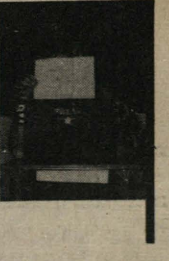
Westmont Open Mouth



PAUL & MS. MAUREEN
(Macierz) (Hillyard)

Paul: The back of my head! Did you see that Maureen? They put in the back of my head!
Ms.: You think you've got it bad, people think I've got a typewriter for a head!
Paul: Who cares if you've got Royal written across your forehead, I've got...

HIGH HEELED SNEAKERS

After a semester of planning, Westmont will be having its second rock concert.

Elvin Bishop will be coming to Westmont High on January 25. Along with Bishop will be Jasper, and the whole works comes with lights by Cohen.

Since the concert is being held in the gym, all those who plan to attend must wear soft-soled shoes. Tickets are $3 with a student body card and $3.50 without. So grab your high heeled sneakers and come rock and hop.

Ms.: What are you yelling at me for? This picture washout isn't my fault.
Paul: Well, who got the lousy photographer who didn't know what she was doing?
Ms.: That "lousy photographer" was my sister!

TODAY BART....

Yesterday afternoon, the Westmont Sociology class taught by Vic Small took a field trip on the BART system to observe one solution to the problem of mass transportation in an urbanized society.

The class left school about 11:30 and went to Fremont by bus.

From the Fremont station, the students went to Oakland on the BART train, costing each one about 60¢, roughly half the cost of train fare.

Paul: I don't care if she is your sister! Cheryl still doesn't know the difference between front and back, or down and...

UPCOMING EVENTS NEWS AND GOSSIP

Girls Sports take on Branham at home tomorrow in field hockey and basketball.

Congratulations to Patty Uhri and Sue Bailey for making County Honor Band with third and seventh chairs, respectively.

Tomorrow's school assembly is with the scholastically eminent jazz ensemble of Westmont High.

The dates have been set for the ninth annual Pops Concert as March 8, 9 and 10.

Come see the mighty Warrior basketballers out-dribble the Branham Bruins there on the 19th, and make the Campbell Bucs "Walk the Plank" there on the 23rd.

FLASH!! COLLEEN ROONEY and CATHY SHELTON, do you read our column?

Do you read anybody's column? Do you know you write a column for this paper? Is there a Colleen and Cathy?

Ms.: If you think your picture was bad, you should see the retakes from the front.
Paul: What's wrong with my front?

SENIOR POWER

The honorable senior class of 1973 has bestowed the annual "Bests":

Best Smile: John Gurney and Jane Yegge.

Foxiest: Linda Lucas and Ken Pietribono.

Most Likely to Succeed: Phil Robinson and Sandy Martin.

Friendliest: Sue Borello and Larry Tracey.

Class Clowns: Kathy Dunn and Chet Searle.

Biggest Con-Artists: Jon Helivig and Jill McCallister.

Shyest: Carmen Gallegos and Rich McCandless.

Biggest Flirts: Tracy Williams and Ellen Carrico.

And we got beat at our own game, but we lost to our heros.

Male Chauvanist: Bruce Thurmond, and Laura Enander for Women's Lib.

Ms.: Well, I've just had it with this whole picture business.
Paul: What?!?! And let our public down?

JOCK TALK

Westmont winter sports are well into the season, and the results are...

Well, let's put it this way. We have some good news and some bad news.

First the good news. At press time the Warrior dribblers are undefeated, having smashed Saratoga and Leigh. The guys are looking for more victories against Camden and Prospect.

Now, the bad news...

The Varsity grapplers and soccer players have not as yet won-- But! It's still early in the season! And hopefully they will come in for a triumphant finish.

Paul: I have a great idea for our permanent pictures. We'll have them taken in bathing suits.
Ms.: I refuse to be put up as a sex object, and you're sure no Mark Spitz.

EGO CORNER

This week we accommodate Mark Spitz and Cybil Shepard with Ego Corner -- because Mark and Cybil belong to each other in Ego Cornerland.

May they live forever behind the mirrored curtain.

Paul: Well, really they aren't so bad....
Ms.: Are you kidding? With those pictures we'll never get a fan letter.
Paul & Ms.: Well, back to sitting in the mail box.

Actors sought for playhouse

School honors Irene Maxfield

Mrs. Maxfield is retiring January 26 from the position of school secretary, which she has held for 13 years.

Speaking of taxes

by Pat Safford, vice-president of the Northern California Assn. of Enrolled Agents

Readers' comments and questions are welcomed. Those of general interest will be covered in "Speaking of Taxes." Address your letters to: Speaking of Taxes, P. O. Box 158, Campbell, Ca. 95008

Q–WHY ARE ONLY BLIND PEOPLE GIVEN AN EXTRA EXEMPTION ON THEIR TAX RETURN. WHY NOT DEAF AND TOTALLY DISABLED?

A–According to Stuart Patt, Public Affairs Officer at the San Francisco Regional IRS office, "because that's the way the law is written."

The legislature makes the law, he said, not the IRS. Trying to track down when the original legislation was passed is going to take time. According to Patt, the blind exemption provision goes back to before 1954. (I have a question on its way to Washington, D.C. to get this information from the technical staff there.)

If deaf and disabled individuals are to receive any special tax exemptions, it is up to the legislature to enact it.

Q–I'VE GOTTEN DIFFERENT ANSWERS TO THE SAME QUESTION FROM THE IRS WHEN I CALL THEIR INFORMATION NUMBER. WHY?

A–"We greatly sympathize with the public," Patt responded to this question. "This is not a new problem or complaint," he said. "We try hard to monitor the responses to taxpayers and have been trying to get more qualified individuals for these positions.

"Sometimes the taxpayer is at fault," Patt continued, "since he will sometimes not ask the question the same way twice. Given one or more additional pieces of information can change the correct response to the taxpayer's question," he explained.

If a taxpayer is still confused after his phone conversation, Patt suggested they come down to the local IRS office, with their papers, for assistance there.

SAVE THOSE LABELS

Whether or not you plan to prepare your own tax return this year be sure to keep the packets mailed out by the state and federal taxing agencies. They contain your address label which should be attached to your return. (Last year the state did not make provisions for reusing their labels...we'll have to see how they do this year.)

These labels are helpful in getting your return processed faster since they contain your district code numbers in addition to your name, address and social security number.

Q–I WORK AS A DEN MOTHER FOR OUR LOCAL CUB SCOUT TROOP. WHAT CAN I DEDUCT ON MY TAX RETURN FOR CHARITY?

A–Provided you actually have expenses, you may deduct as Other Than Cash Contributions: cost of food provided for pack meetings, six cents per mile for all driving connected with scouting (field trips, rides home, picking up supplies), cost of your uniform and dues, supplies for crafts, etc., actual value of possessions donated to the pack (cost of canned goods for the Christmas baskets and the cost, less wear and tear, of that chair donated to the rummage sale).

You'll find it easier to keep track of these things if you use your appointment book or calendar to jot down trips, etc., as you go along. Trying to reconstruct what you spent at the end of the year is almost impossible.

Note: In last week's column a reference was made to the new state capital gains taxes. The rates this year are 50, 65 and 100%, depending upon the holding period. NOT, 50, 60 and 100%.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

The fall-winter season of the Northern California Darts Assn. has come to an end with Los Gatos' Scarlet LaRue I again taking the South Bay League, "A" Division championship. Scarlet LaRue II also did very well taking the El Camino League, "A" Division title. Should both these teams take their divisional titles, we could conceivably have an all-area championship match.

The divisional playoff will take place Sunday with the LaRue I pitted against the Prosecutors from Hayward (Chabot League) and the Gay 90's III from Pleasant Hill (Diablo League) at the Banbury Clock, upstairs of Sambo's in the San Jose Inn, 1860 The Alameda.

The Prosecutors, like LaRue I, are former association champions as well as holding their league title for several years.

The championship went to Phil Albers and Gary Curtaz of LaRue I with second going to Tony Chavarria and Don Halter and third going to Tom Patton and Ron Rutherford.

WEST BAY DIVISIONAL

The El Camino, Peninsula, Transbay and Golden Gate Leagues will play-off at Harold's of Redwood, 840 Brewster St. in Redwood City.

Besides the LaRue II, the other teams in this division are the Ben Jonson and Abbey Tavern II in San Francisco and the Primrose II from Burlingame.

In the "B" level play-offs, Campbell's Or What Ever II will play Mountain View's Country Store, San Francisco's Abbey Tavern III and Novato's Two Flags Pub III at the Primrose Lanes in Burlingame.

The East Bay Divisional will pit San Jose's Neighborhood Tavern I against Marvins Marvels from Oakland and Concord's Bel Aire II at the Half-Way Club in San Leandro.

CHAMPIONS AGAIN---Quito Little League is having sign-ups for the new season this Friday, January 29, from 7-9 p.m. and Saturday, January 20, from 12 noon to 3 p.m. Sign-ups will be held at Forest Hill School in Campbell. Pictured above, the District 44 senior champions, from the Quito league. A parent or guardian must accompany each child and a birth certificate will be required for registration. Age requirements are that he be eight years old by July 30, 1973 and not older than 16 by the same date.

Campbell Little League comes of age

by Pat Safford

This is the third in a series of articles dealing with the after-school sports program in Campbell. Today the Campbell Little League program is outlined and the league president has some comments about criticisms by a local orthopedist in the last issue.

Eighteen years ago the Campbell Little League began with just four teams and no field to call their own. This year will see some 34 teams in action at the Little League Ball Park at Rosemary School.

The season opener is set for Saturday, April 28.

In an earlier article Dr. Martin Trieb, chairman of the local medical society's Medical Aspects of Sports Committee, had some criticism for the Little League. He expresses concern for an alledged emphasis on pitching and suggested medical guidelines to be used for arm and shoulder injuries to try and prevent permanent injury to players.

THE OTHER SIDE

John Hanrahan, Campbell Little League president, acknowledges that these criticisms are not new and are, in some cases, true. However, he says there are two sides to the issue.

"Does he know what our managers do to try to prevent injuries?," Hanrahan says. "I've seen kids, not just pitchers but those playing the outfield, who have complained of a sore arm or shoulder. They come out of the ball game right now," he said. "Our managers do have a great deal of concern for these kids."

LEAGUE STRUCTURE

Hanrahan, 749 Jean Drive, is in his second term as league president. It is his job to appoint coaches, managers, umpires and league committees. He administers the local program and represents the Campbell league in the council of the district organization.

Nationally, Little League is divided into regions, sections and districts. District 44, which includes the Campbell Little League, contains a total of 16 leagues. According to Hanrahan, there are over 8,000 leagues throughout the world.

"ASK THE BOYS"

In response to the doctor's statement that sports should be fun and that, by placing great emphasis on the pitching staff, other team members don't get to play as much as they should, Hanrahan said, "Since I've been in the league here (eight years) there have been some 3,500 boys in the program. Ask them if they've had fun and if they've learned anything. I think they HAVE."

Last year over 500 boys participated in the four team classifications. This year will see eight major league teams (ages 10, 11 and 12). The league also will have 12 minor league teams (ages 9-12), 10 farm teams (ages 8-10) and four T-league teams (training teams for ages 8 and 9).

LITTLE LEAGUE PARENTS

Parent involvement in the program is keen. From avid spectators at the games to team coaches, managers and the league auxiliary which runs the concession stand.

Last year the auxiliary grossed some $14,000 through the concession program and the net, nearly 38%, is a profit margin which any business owner would envy. Completely staffed and operated by the auxiliary, the stand offers such fare as chili, hamburgers and hot dogs in addition to the peanuts and Crackerjacks of that famous baseball song.

ALL BOYS PLAY

According to league rules, each boy gets to play at least two innings per week, prorated over a weekly period. In the major league, according to Hanrahan, if the team plays three games a week, each player gets to play at least six innings that week and is up to bat at least twice.

HELP NEEDED

"We try our best," Hanrahan said of safety precautions and rules. "If we just had some doctors to help." Managers and coaches meet weekly on Thursday evenings, the league president said. "If a doctor would take just one-half hour to come and speak to our guys it would be greatly appreciated."

He can be contacted at 378-5369.

Police embark on burglary prevention program in city

Campbell police have embarked on a burglary prevention program which emphasizes how homeowners can add additional security with a minimum of effort and expense, according to Police Chief Don Burr.

The program also calls for a series of informational lectures on homeowners' security.

Tonight (Wednesday), in conjunction with the Campbell and Cambrian BPW groups, the first of these demonstrations, entitled "protecting homes against burglary" will be held in the police headquarters in the city hall. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

The police department, according to Sgt. Dore', will demonstrate in the homes, if people will allow them and the reserves are being trained to perform security inspections. After February 1 they will inspect residences on a first-come, first-serve basis.

"Remember," Police Chief Burr further emphasizes, "burglary is big business, but you don't have to be a customer."

Those residents of Campbell who are interested should call the Campbell Police Department, 378-1211, and request their names be placed on an inspection list.

Shrews, small nocturnal mammals, will frequently die when exposed to 30 minutes of sunlight.

Cambrian Pony League starts

This Saturday sign-ups will be held for the Cambrian Park Pony League at Ida Price School, beginning at 10 a.m. The school is located at Curtner and New Jersey avenues.

Official applications and details can be obtained from local schools. Parents must accompany their child and a birth certificate will also be requested.

For further information contact Jim Casalegno at 377-7360.

Pony League sign-ups

Boys, 13 and 14 years old, may sign up Saturday for the Campbell-Moreland Pony League which launches its 1973 season in late April.

Registration will take place at the Rincon Field clubhouse between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Player agent Bob DeVor and Ray Knight will be in charge.

Each boy is asked to bring at least one parent and certification of birth date.
